“With the greatest attention to detail, we’re committed to making the world’s best image editing software and delivering it in a way that is intuitive and designed to support all the creative ways that people are using their devices. By adding real-time collaboration directly into Photoshop, we’re making the modern studio experience even more interactive.” “All the advances we are making with Photoshop and Adobe MAX’s events are our collaboration to create world-class tools for a faster, smarter and dynamic workflow. By combining the power of new, next-generation GPUs and processor architectures, and new in-OS APIs and connectivity capabilities, we’re giving photographers, designers and creative professionals more ways to get faster results every day.” “By combining the diverse viewpoints of thousands of users at Adobe MAX and in our customer communities and our own internal development teams, we are able to provide our customers with the best choice of innovations and also build forward-leaning technology to enhance our software without disruption.” Adobe made collaboration even easier than before with Share for Review (beta), which provides instant file sharing with collaborators in real time. With a simple click, a creator can see in real time what a reviewer is seeing in the same file at the same time. It’s an easy way to decide what needs to be changed, or whether it’s ready to be shared in real time. Adobe Paint (previously Smart Objects) on the Web enables you to edit images in the browser without leaving your desktop or mobile device. The Editing tools are extremely simple to use and the many features include:

- Object Selection with Content-Aware Fill (beta) - Similar to Smart Objects, content-aware fill searches text and image elements in your image for elements that match one or more minute criteria, then blends them together. With just a single gesture, you can easily remove unwanted objects from picture.
- Object Selection with Content-Aware Move - With just a single click, you can remove or swap objects by moving them to a different location in your picture. Know where you are searching for the object and move it around with a single click.
- Object Selection with Content-Aware Reduce - Similar to Content-Aware Fill, the Content-Aware Reduce textlet builder helps spot difficult-to-see areas in your picture and sculpt it using an automatic content-aware image cutting method.
